Starry's new office will support the company's rapid growth and expansion across the Washington, DC metro area

ARLINGTON, VA (September 10, 2019) – Starry, Inc., a radically new internet service provider pioneering the deployment of next generation, high-capacity, point-to-multipoint, fixed wireless broadband, today announced the opening of a new office in Arlington, Virginia as the company expands its internet service in the Washington, DC metro area. Starry's newest office, which is owned by Rooney Properties, is approximately 8,300 square-feet and located in the neighborhood of Clarendon. The space will house Starry's growing team of employees, which includes engineering, deployment, construction, customer care, marketing and sales staff, and will support the company's continued expansion across the DC metro area.

Starry was the first company to commercially deploy a pre-standard 5G fixed wireless broadband network when it launched in Boston in 2016. The company quickly expanded to Washington, DC in 2018 and is serving the DC neighborhoods of Adams Morgan, Columbia Heights, Dupont Circle, Logan Circle, Mt. Vernon Triangle, NOMA, and Penn Quarter. The network also currently covers the areas of Courthouse, Rosslyn, Clarendon, and Ballston in Virginia and is expanding rapidly to additional neighborhoods across the metro area. Starry offers consumers an internet-only product with stellar customer care, no expensive bundles, long-term contracts, data caps, or hidden fees for $50/month for 200mbps plan speeds, inclusive of installation, 24/7 customer service and all equipment.

"Starry is at a pivotal moment of growth and expansion in the DC-metro area. Putting down roots in Arlington means we're better able to support our rapid growth and meet the voracious local demand for competitive, high-quality internet service," said Starry COO Alex Moule-Berteaux. "People crave choice and affordability. They also want to be treated well. Starry delivers on all three."

"Every day we're working to deliver an exceptional internet experience to all of our customers. From our building partners to our subscribers, we're laser-focused on being customer-first, always," said Starry General Manager for Washington, DC Tim Dunne. "We're consumers too, and that's why we treat every customer the way we would want to be treated. That mindset – as simple as it may sound – is what distinguishes us from the incumbent providers and has propelled our rapid growth in the region."

Starry employs approximately 600 employees in five offices across the country. In June, Starry announced it would be further expanding its footprint to dozens of more cities, covering more than 40 million households.
